FIVE VOTE AGAINST PLAN

After months of discussion, investigation, during which much bitterness has crept out between property owners and those who were fostering the system, the city council last night, by a vote of five to four decided that the proposed electrolier system on Tenth street between Lucas and Cutting would not be installed.

A resolution directing the city engineer to prepare plans and specifications for the work was presented. The motion for adoption was made by Hartnett and seconded by Fenner.

Without any discussion the roll was called and the motion was lost by the following vote:

Ayes—Councilmen Fenner, Meyer, Johnson, Hartnett.

Noes—Councilmen Scott, Hinkley, Chandler, Imbach and Paulsen.

Two weeks ago the council by a vote of six to three voted to order the work, but by its vote last evening it reversed itself.

A majority of the resident property owners between Lucas and Ripley had signed against the electroliers, and there was a strong protest between Ohio and Cutting

Most of the protestants claimed that the improvement of the street and the installing of sewers were more vital at this time than electroliers.

In the proposed district there is a frontage of 12,377.96 feet.

Property owners representing 4,422.45 feet asked for the improvement, 2,452.85 opposed it, and no word was received from 5,501.65.

FIRE ZONE ORDINANCE PASSED BY CITY COUNCIL

The ordinance creating fire zones to conform to the limits provided by the new building code of the City of Richmond, was adopted by the unanimous vote of the city council at its meeting last night.

Under the provisions of the ordinance, the fire zone on Macdonald avenue is extended from Twenty-fifth street to Twenty-seventh street, which takes in the property of what is known as the metropolitan area. The west side is eliminated from Fire Zone No. 1.

The new ordinance places the west side in Fire Zone No. 2.

This zone provides that builders in commercial zones outside of No. 1, may build structures of frame and stucco. Heretofore the West side business district has been forced to build only class one, two or three buildings, which requires masonry construction with walls that are intended to resist fire for four hours. Zone 2 buildings require walls capable of resisting fire for one hour only.

Commercial Zone

All commercial zones in Richmond, outside of No. 1 zone, along Macdonald avenue from First to Twenty-seventh street, fall under the No. 2 zone classification under the new ordinance. CANNERY TO START ABOUT THURSDAY

Operation of the Filice and Perrelli cannery was deferred until the middle of the week, in an announcement by the company.

It was expected that the big new plant would be in shape to run today, but certain details in connection with finishing up the installation of the machinery caused the opening to be deferred. John Perrelli said the first fruit will probably be canned on Thursday. Apricots will be the first to go through the plant. These will be followed later by peaches and then by pears.

The entire vegetable crop has been canned this year at the Gilroy plant owing to the late date at which the Richmond plant was completed. Next year the local cannery will run a full season, starting in the early spring with asparagus and running through the full gamut of California fruits and vegetables.

G. A. Filice, the president, and John A. Perrelli, the vice president were invited by P. M. Sanford, president of the chamber of commerce, to join with the chamber directors at their meeting Wednesday noon of this week. It is expected that the men will give more details regarding the opening at that meeting. Both men will occupy prominent places in the chamber of commerce work after their local plant is running, it was announced.

The new cannery is rated as one o fthe finest and most modern plants on the Pacific coast. It will represent, with land and machinery approximately half a milion dollars of investment. It is served by the joint tracks of the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe, and water transportation is afforded by the Parr-Richmond terminal, which is nearby. Tenth street, which the cannery faces, gives the necessary highway link with all California points.

The applications were laid over for one week at the suggestion of Councilman V. A. Fenner.

Three companies are lined up asking for the permit; the Key System Transit Company; the Richmond Transit Company, owned by E. Lucas, and the California Transportation company, whose local representative is former Councilman E. A. Martin.

After the applications of the other companies had been read, Martin stated to the council that he would like to have the records show that he was appearing for a company made up of responsible individuals, capable of furnishing the proper bond. The company would ask a permit for a bus line that would not conflict with the present ordinances of the city regulating the operation of street cars and bus lines.

Mr. and Mrs. Hafner left immediately for Salt Lake to return the girl to Richmond.

The young girl disappeared from her home about two weeks ago when her mother was gone about a half an hour to bring Hafner home from work.

When her parents arrived at their home, Eilleen had packed her belongings and disappeared, leaving no word as to her destination.

It was at first thought she had gone to Sacramento, but no trace of her was found in that city. Police were notified in four counties to be on the lookout for the missing girl, but no word was received from her until last Saturday night, when the Salt Lake hotel man wired Boyer.

CARNERA WINS ON FOUL IN FIFTH

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—UP—Another foul ended another promising heavyweight battle tonight when Primo Carnera, went down in the fifth round from what seemed a deliberate low blow struck by George Godfrey, of Leiperville.

Until that time the men had fought on almost even terms.

The referee, John Reilly declared in his belief Godfrey had deliberately fouled out.

A left hook to the body one minute and 13 seconds after the fifth round started sent Carnera to the canvas in obvious pain.

Round One:

They sparred in mid-ring and Godfrey wrestled into a clinch. George doubled up Primo with a left to the stomach, but Godfrey drove hard right to the jaw making Primo's knees sag. Primo jabbed several lefts to face. Carenra sent straight right to jaw, Godfrey bouncing off ropes. George put short right to face. Godfrey pounded body in clinch. Then Primo drove straight right to mouth. Primo swung both hands hard to head and pummelled Godfrey at close quarters. George swung two hard overhand rights to face. Then he drove two more to face, sending Primo to ropes.

Godfrey's round.

Round Two:

Godfrey jumped in and drove primo to ropes with a two-fisted attack to head and body. Carnera fought back gamely. Godfrey played for body in close. George drove two hard lefts to body, with Primo wide open. Godfrey drove two short rights to head, but Carnera only laughed. Carnera missed right to the head and Godfrey played with both hands to body. Carnera uppercut twice to face.

Godfreys' round.

Round Three:

Carnera stabbed left to face and took hard right to face in return. George rushed but was wild and Primo tied him up. Carnera put short rights to head while in close. Godfrey drove right to body and left to face. He hooked another left to face. Carnera back at him with rights to face. Godfrey drove left to body. The black hooked low left to body but Carnera laughed again and shook hands. Godfrey put a right to body and left to jaw but the blows didn't seem to hurt. Carnera crossed short right to head and Godfrey replied with right to face. Carnera held him off with left at the bell.

Round Four:

Godfrey jumped in with his head down and they wrestled to the ropes. Primo showed a nice left jab and uppercut in close. Godfrey rushed in with hard right to body. Again he sent Carnera to ropes. Carnera jabbed a left to face. Godfrey drove a low left to body but Carnera laughed and they shook hands. Primo crossed a hard right to the body. Godfrey kept walking in with his head down and they both did a lot of wrestling. Carnera brought up a light right to face. Godfrey left to body.

Round Five:

Godfrey was slower now and resorted more to wrestling. Primo stepped away and sparred. The big Italian laughed when Godfrey blocked a left lead to head and then got a left and right to head. Godfrey dropped Carnera with a left to the groin. Carnera apparently was in great agony. A doctor entered the ring to examine him. Carnera was carried from the ring. It was the Sharkey-Schmeling scene over again. Carnera was awarded bout on a foul.

LIONS BEATEN BY FIREMEN TEAM

Two brothers alternating on the mound twice in one game was the peculiar state of things that arose on the high school diamond yesterday afternoon when the Firemen took the Lions down the line with a score of nine to five.

The brother act was performed for the fire fighters by Johnny and Steve Huzefka, both prominent members of the Richmond baseball fraternity. Steve started chucking, but after walking five Lions in the first inning and allowing three runs, was replaced by Johnny, who came in from the hot patch.

Johnny held the mound for a few more minutes, and then surrendered the box to his brother. Steve pitched fair, though rather wild baseball for a short spell. and Johnny again marched in from shortstop to finish the pitching job.

Three Hits

Between them, the two members of the Huzefka family allowed but three hits, but eight free trips to first base.

The Lions also had plenty of fun shifting their players from position to position.

Three chuckers pitched for the Lions. Babe Matteri started and held the mound until the middle of the second. He was replaced by Barber, who twirled until the middle of the sixth.

Gordon Lemon finished pitching for the Lions. Matteri was responsible for five hits, Barber for three, and Lemon for none.

In Lead

By winning last night's battle, the Firemen went into a one game lead in the Richmond City Twilight baseball league over the Odd Fellows.

The Native Sons will attempt to come up from third place when they tangle with the Standard Oil nine, which is in the cellar at present.

Lines In Play Fail To Bring Damage Money

BUDAPEST, — On the ground that proof of damage had not been produced the Budapest civil court recently dismissed a law brought by the Chanel perfumery house of Paris against Franz Molnar, author and former husband of Sari Fedak, Hungary's greatest actress.

In his newest play, which is entitled "One, Two, Three," Molnar causes one of his characters to say to another that she should not use Chanel perfume but another brand which is 18 percent cheaper and 37 percent better. Claiming that this bit of dialogue had injured their name and decreased the sale of their perfume the Paris firm sued for damages. The judge found their claim to be without foundation and ordered them to pay the costs of the trial.

WESTERN AUTO HAS SPECIAL ON TIRES

New, low prices on Western Giant and Wear-well tires are now in effect, according to C. J. Johnson, local manager of the Western Auto Supply company.

In making this announcement, Johnson stated that these new prices offer the greatest dollar for dollar value of any tire ever offered by the Western Auto stores. "More than a million Western Giant tires are in daily use and that they give their owners the tire values they want is evidenced by the increased demand for them," Johnson says.

"The fact that the Western Auto Supply company can offer a distinctive service to automobile owners in the way of tire service is one of the reasons why we sell so many tires. We believe that our company offers a service that no other company in the west can duplicate, a service that should mean a great deal to the car owner.

"When the motorist equips his car with Western Giant or Wear Well tires, he can start out on a vacation trip free from all tire worries and ready to enjoy his travels with the guarantee and service of one of the world's largest auto accessory companies to back his confidence.

"In selecting these tires, the auto owner is secure in the very knowledge that however far from home his summer vacation trip may take him, he will always be near a Western Auto store, where if his tire should need servicing, he will be properly cared for in the full spirit of our "Customer is Always Right" policy and our guarantee that assures complete and lasting satisfaction for the life of the tire.

"Right now, during vacation season, we urge all autoists to check their tires and replace all doubtful ones with new, guarantee tires to prevent inconvenience and delays on vacation trips."

YOUNG CORBETT IN TRAINING FOR BOUT

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—Hundreds of admirers and fans thronged Young" Corbett's training quarters at South San Francisco yesterday to witness the Fresnan in his first stiff workout for his coming ten round non-title battle with "Young" Jack Thompson, welterweight champion of the world, which is scheduled for the Fourth of July at Ewing field here.

Corbett's boxing and punching left little to be desired, and his manager, Ralph Manfredo, expressed keen satisfaction at his charge's condition at this early stage.

As a rule, Corbett fattens up between fights and has some eight or ten pounds of superfluous flesh on him when he starts training. However, at this time he has very little weight to remove, and when he steps on the scales the morning of the Fourth one may feel certain he will be in perfect condition.

The arrival of Thompson from Los Angeles is set for tomorrow night, according to Ray Alvis, manager of the colored warrior. Alvis came here Saturday and completed arrangements for Thompson to train at a local gymnasium.

The Negro had to remain over in the south and is scheduled to appear at a benefit show for the Los Angeles newsboys tonight.

The Dreamland club, which is promoting the match, announces that the reserved seat tickets have been placed on sale, and that the early rush for "pasteboards" indicates a "gate" in excess of expectations.

While the better seats are purchaseable at this time, the management has arranged Ewing field in such a manner as to accomodate 8000 persons in the bleachers. The seats will be put on sale the morning of the fight.

SMITH TELLS ALL AT TRIAL OF BECKER

OAKLAND, June 23.—Fred C. Smith, admitted "go-between" and key witness in the trial of Former Sheriff Burton F. Becker, Deputy Sheriff J. L. Davis and C. L. Ormsby, former Oakland attorney, today charged that:

An Alameda county sheriff sworn to law observance and enforcement, protected Chinese gambling houses at $500 each a month, tipped off raids in advance—

A deputy sheriff arranged a meeting between the 'go-between" and Oakland attorney who held out 10 percent commission before passing the bribe money to the sheriff, and:

The sheriff, an Oakland city commissioner and the "go-between" wound up a July Fourth party at southern Alameda county bootlegging places.

Details of the above were told an Oakland jury today in the trial of the three men, by Smith.

According to his testimony, Smith met Ormsby through Davis and through the attorney, arranged to protect six Emeryville lottery houses, for $3000 a month. He told the jury of receiving two payments in 1927, one of $1500 for protection of The Plaza, The Line and The Sunset; and the other of $2700 for protection of these three and three more.

Smith declared Ormsby kept back $300 as his share. He also testified he turned bribe money over to Becker seven or eight times during a three month period, and when Becker called him on the telephone and told him he was going to make raids, he passed the word to Ormsby.

The "go-between" closed his testimony today with a story of the July Fourth party after the Livermore rodeo. According to the testimony, Former Commissioner William Parker went to sleep on the floor and was unable to drive his car home.

BANCROFT IN NEW FILM AT CALIFORNIA

George Bancroft is at the Fox California theater today and tomorrow in a new kind of story.

"Ladies Love Brutes" is the story of a building contractor who has risen from the ranks and who has amassed a fortune. He decides to become a force in the social life of New York so that he may make even greater successes in his role of the "Sky-scraper King." Accordingly he has himself introduced to a beautiful young society matron. He falls in love with her when he learns that she is soon to divorce her erring husband.

But his chances for romance in the "400" are blasted when racketeering enemies devise a plot to wreck him. In the ensuing action there is a terrific fistic encounter in which Bancroft emerges the victor. The conclusion of this stirring tale is a happy one, with Bancroft upheld as more of a hero than ever before.

Mary Astor, one of the younger beauties of the talking films, plays the role of the wealthy society woman. Fredric March performs admirably in the role of the inconsiderate husband who finally is brought to his senses by the heroism of Bancroft.

In the part of Mike Mendino, a gangster, Stanley Fields gives a portrayal that comes close to the work of Bancroft for first honors. Others who acquit themselves with distinction are David Durand and Freddie Burke Frederick, child players who are cast as the respective sons of the hero and the society matron.

Claud Alister, a san English-bred tailor, furnishes an abundance of rare comedy.

"Ladies Love Brutes" is based on a successful stage play "Pardon My Glove" which was written by Zoe Akins. Waldemar Young and Herman J. Mankiewicz, who adapted the play for the talking screen, made an admirably fast-moving and exciting film production.

Rowland V. Lee, the director, here betters his fine mark made in "Dr. Fu Manchu" and "Wolf of Wall Street."

Also on the program is Ford Sterling in a laughing comedy entitled "Fatal Forces."

Murray Stars In Film Play At Richmond

"Clancy in Wall Street" the Aristocrat picture, which opens tonight at the Richmond theater, offers an unusually fine cast of comedians.

Charles Murray, a popular favorite since the early days of motion pictures, plays the title role, a better part, he thinks, than he essayed in "McFadden's Flats." "The Cohens and the Kellys" or any of his other comedy successes. Lucien Littlefield will be seen as Murray's Scotch partner. Aggie Herring is cast as the star's wife, and beautiful Miriam Seegar and Edward Nuvent as the children of the partners, provide the romance. Reed Howes plays the villain. Ted Wilde director of several Harold Lloyd comedies, directed "Clancy in Wall Street."

Supervisors Will Not Attend Hearing On Stage Petitions

MARTINEZ, June 23.—A policy of non-appearance at hearings before the State Railroad commission on applications of stage lines to use county highways was adopted at a meeting of the board of supervisors today.

It is believed the resolution was prompted by failure in many past hearings, when the county has opposed the use of its roads by stage lines.

OAKLAND WILL WAR ON BAD BRAKES

OAKLAND, June 23.—Determined to bring about a reduction of automobile deaths and injuries, the Oakland Police department and the East Bay safety council will continue the combined brake and headlight drive against violators until further notice, it was announced by Frank Colburn, commissioner of public health and safety, and Ramsey Probasco, president of the East Bay Safety council.

The effort will be along lines laid down in a recent safety meeting and will be carried out with educational work by the citizens group and rigid enforcement thru the police department.

Colburn said that brakes and illegal headlights of one kind or another are among the most fruitful source of serious accidents as revealed in researches by Probasco's organization. The Safety council's report covering 49 deaths so far this year, shows that 27 of the victims met death after six o'clock at night indicating that poor visibility must have a bearing on accidents, it was said by Colburn. There were seven deaths between six and seven in the evening; seven between seven and eight; four between eight and nine; and one between nine and ten; eight between ten o'clock in the evening and one o'clock in the morning.

"The police department is pleased to work with the Safety council in this campaign as it has always done in the past, said Colburn. The department has always appreciated the cooperation of citizens knowing we cannot accomplish everything by police enforcement alone, but must have the good will and support of the public which can be secured only through the educational work so ably conducted by the East Bay Safety council."

Probasco said that the drive against brake and headlight violators is one of a series of activities which are to be conducted on an ascending scale for the balance of the year to avert the substantial deaths which now seems possible for 1930. He said that special bulletins are to be sent to the 3800 members of the council that messages urging safe driving will be displayed in the street cars and that cards will be shown in the windows of the downtown houses.

PAINFUL CORNS

Loosen—Lift Out

A little known Japanese herb, the discovery of an eminent German scientist (Dr. Stickel) instantly soothes the corn, callous or wart, then loosens it so that shortly you can lift it right out. This new discovery called "Corn Fly" excites the white blood corpuscles to action and granulates the corn at its root so that it drops out and leaves no trace of scar or soreness.

You will also find "Corn Fly Foot Bath Powder" a boon for sore, tired or perspiring feet.

"Corn Fly" for corns, 35c, "Corn Fly Foot Bath Powder" 25c, and "Corn Fly Bunion Remedy" 50c, (all three—$1.10 value—for $1.00), are sold under a positive money-back guarantee by Hi-Gene Co., Newark, N. J., or local druggist.

BATTLE LOOMS ON BUS LINE PERMIT

Filice & Perrelli cannery and the Ford plant along Tenth street to Tenth and Macdonald, where it will connect with the street car system, and also from the cannery along Tenth to Cutting, thence along Cutting to Pullman avenue, where another connection will be made with the street car system.

The application of the Key System asks that the present route of its bus line be so changed that it will start at Ferry Point, thence along Garrard to Macdonald avenue, thence to Ninth and Nevin, to Tenth, thence along Tenth to the Filice & Perrelli cannery and Ford plant This change would cut out the present route, which takes in the west side.

The Key System proposes to make four trips to the cannery in the morning and four trips in the afternoon.

No Action

The Richmond Transit company owned by Edward Lucas, asks that its present route, which terminates on Tenth street, be extended to the cannery and the Ford plant. Lucas' present route runs along Barrett avenue to the eastern section of the city, and also takes in the town of San Pablo.

Lucas has pioneered this territory for the past 19 months, and asserts that he was given a promise of a new permit when the cannery was ready for operation.

Councilman Fenner stated that the proposed change of the Key System would cut out the Point, and he was satisfied there would be a great many protests on the change.

All applications then went over for one week.

PACIFIC PLANE ON HOP OVER ATLANTIC

CALWAY, Ireland, June 24 (Tuesday) The plane Southern Cross, attempting a trans-Atlantic flight from Dublin flew over this city on the west coast of Ireland at 6:12 a.m. (12:12 EST) today.

The ship was flying at great speed at about five hundred feet and apparently was running smoothly.

PORT MARNOCK, Ireland, June 24 (Tuesday) UP—Capt. Charles E Kingsford-Smith, Australian flier took off in the Southern Cross, veteran airplane, of trans-Pacific fame at 4:25 a. m. today (10:25 p. m. Monday EST.)

The heavily loaded plane taxied for 1500 yards and then rose gracefully into the air.

Captain Kingsford-Smith steered toward the Irish sea for about a mile, then turned back and descended somewhat to salute the cheering crowd of 5000 persons.

Gained Altitude

The plane then gained altitude and disappeared inland rapidly in the direction of Gallway, the last point of land to be passed before starting across the Atlantic.

Captain Smith, in exclusive statements to the United Press as he climbed into the plane, said:

"I wish to greet all my good friends in New York. We will definitely meet them after the flight, which I hope will not last longer than 38 hours.

May Refuel

"I cannot guarantee any non-stop flight to New York, but probably will refuel at Old Orchard, Me., or in the air off the Main coast."

The famous flier added that he was "certain of making it."

The schedule of 38 hours across the northern circle route would land the Southern Cross in New York about 12:25 p. m. on Wednesday.

3 Companions

With Smith in the plane were Assistant Pilot Evert Van Dyk; Capt. John P. Faul of the Free State army, navigator, and J. W. Stannage, radio operator.

Kingsford Smith will serve as chief pilot.

The plane carried the following food supplies to reach man: Six sandwiches, half pound of chocolate, one quart of coffee and a small amount of cheese. A small quantity of whiskey for each man also was carried. The plane was fueled with 1300 gallons of American gasoline—sufficient to last 38 hours at a flying speed of 95 miles an hour.

Weather reports at the beach said conditions today were good.

CLERGY JOINS CHICAGO WAR ON CRIME

CHICAGO, June 23.—UP—A crime crusade by the Chicago clergy to reinforce the authorities in their war on gangsters was pledged today by the Chicago Church Federation.

The churchmen requested a conference be arranged at which its representatives could meet with Acting Commissioner of Police John Alcock, State's Attorney John A. Swanson, and other civic leaders to decide what part they best could perform in the campaign.

In other ways also, the beginning of the third week of investigation into the murder of Alfred J. Lingle, newspaper reporter, which started the war, showed there was no letting up in law enforcement activity.

Police were concentrating in a search for James "Red" Forsythe a gunman reputed to shoot equally well with either hand, and a former employe of Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Ettleson's office, as a man who fitted the description of the apparently left-handed slayer.

They also sought Frank Noonan a police character, and Simon Gorden, trucking contractor, who were arrested a year ago with Forsythe after a shooting scrape.

Investigation into Forsythe's record swung the spotlight upon the courts, it being found that he was convicted and sentenced to prison for carrying a gun, but apparently never reached jail. Certain records in the case could not be found.

Judge John H. Lyle, who sentenced Forsythe, recalled that "big pressure" was brought by politicians to have him vacate the jail sentence.

Forsythe was removed from the corporation counsel Ettelson's payroll after he was arrested last December in a raid on the Moran-Aiello gang headquarters.

GATE SPAN IN FOUR YEARS, YOUNG SAYS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—UP—A bridge across San Francisco bay will be built within the next four years, Gov. C. C. Young pledged here today.

"I wish to make this positive statement to you today as citizens of the bay district," the governor said. "The San Francisco bay bridge will be built during the coming four years."

"I can also add, without in any sense seeking to speak for the bridge commission, that an agreement will be reached between local interests and the army and navy."

The governor also commented on future prosperity of the bay area.

"San Francisco and Oakland are destined to go forward together; they are the twin cities of the north, each the complement of the other, each dependent for its ultimate business and industrial development on the other. This bay bridge, a structure which will have no counterpart in the world, will guarantee the close relationship and the rapid system of communication so essential to both communities."

Harbor Masons Confer Degree

With Emmett Hitchcock in the chair, a third degree was conferred at a meeting of the Harbor Masonic lodge in the Masonic hall last night. Refreshments were served by the banquet committee at the close of the meeting.

It was announced that the Rainbow Girls from Oakland would be present at the lodge meeting next Monday night and would exemplify their work.

According to Hitchcock, worshipful master of the Harbor lodge, all Masons, and members of the Eastern Star are cordially invited to attend the presentation. Refreshments will be served at the close of the work.

Richmond Youth Hurt In Crash

W. D. Norton, Tenth street and Nevin avenue, is today recovering from minor injuries sustained when his motorcycle collided with a car driven by Alex Tweton of San Pablo.

FOUR KILLED BY HEAT WAVE IN MIDWEST

CHICAGO, June 23— UP— Hot sultry blasts swept the middlewest today coming direct from the sweltering deserts and prairies of the far southwest to serve warning that summer, officially only two days old, was here in earnest.

Four deaths were attributed to the heat, and 11 drownings were recorded as temperatures up and down the Mississippi and its tributaries, ranged from 90 to 102 degrees.

Crowds rushed to beaches and resorts where the chilly water paralyzed many of the swimmers and caused the heavy death tolls.

In Chicago the thermometer reached 95 in the afternoon. The tenement districts were like ovens. Charity organizations paid for distribution of free ice, and free milk also was available for those who were without funds.

The heat deaths were reported from Illinois, Minnesota, Missouri and Iowa. Four bodies were recovered from a lake near Paxton, one drowned in Illinois, and three in Missouri.

St. Louis had the hottest temperature, 102, but unoficially thermometers recorded 110 in some cities.

The weather man reported that if the wind should change to a southeasterly direction, showers would bring relief. Cooling rains were general this afternoon in the southwest.

Reports Given To City Council

Two departmental reports were filed with the city council last night.

The Richmond Health Center expenses for the past month amounted to $436.87.

The report of Frank Meader, poundmaster, showed 76 dogs impounded ,and 73 killed.

Woman Hurt In Auto Colision

Miss Julia Blumfield, 2011 Macdonald avenue, received treatment Sunday night at the Abbott emergency hospital for minor injuries received when she was struck by a truck driven by Angus Braskovich, 769 Eighth street, according to police reports. The accident occurred at Ninth street and Macdonald avenue.

Women are welcoming the all-electric kitchen

Electricity heats water for ½ to ⅓ of a cent per gallon

WOMEN appreciate the cleanliness and the convenience of the all-electric kitchen. These are two reasons why almost every one of our customers today who is selecting an electric range is also selecting an automatic electric water heater.

Heating water with electricity is practical. Many electric water heaters installed for P. G. and E. customers, over 10 years ago, are still supplying dependable hot water service.

Another reason why women like the automatic electric water heater is that it offers flexibility in operation—

1. You may operate the heater manually—Turn the switch and heat the quantity of water desired and then turn the switch off. This is the most economical method.

2. You may turn the switch on in the morning and leave the heater operate automatically during the day and then turn the switch off for the afternoon or evening.

3. You may leave the switch on all the time and enjoy hot water 100% automatically—day and night. You'll have plenty of hot water at the turn of the faucet. Still, you will never have to watch the heater.

Automatic electric water heaters come complete with insulated storage tank. Or if you like, you can obtain the automatic heater without the tank and attach the heater to your present tank.

THE WOMAN OF IT

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

Guilty—But Recommended to Mercy

THAT New Yorkers are not hospitable to old friends and relatives from home is the charge just brought against them by a New Yorker—Julius Henry Cohen, general counsel of the Port of New York Authority. Mr. Cohen was addressing the members of the Board of Trade, and undoubtedly had New York men in mind when he said:

MARGUERITE MOOERS MARSHALL

"The average New Yorker is so pressed for time in and out of business hours that when his friends call upon him all that he usually does for them is to shake hands and then turn cold. Our personal hospitality needs improvement. Among New Yorkers we find none of that studied effort to entertain and be hospitable that is so marked a feature of the attitude toward visitors abroad and in many parts of the United States."

But many busy New York women—we are one of them—must also plead guilty to the charge. For all our sakes, however, we shall add an earnest recommendation to the mercy of old friends and kinsfolk. We have not ceased to care for them. We don't mean to be rude to them—or inhospitable. But we are so darned busy—and this city is so darned big!

Persons from the smaller communities—especially the woman of the older generation—simply do not understand either fact. Hospitality was not an "extra" for such a woman—it was one of the pleasantest parts of her regular job. As the mistress of a roomy house and as her own employer in running it, she had the place to put friends and relatives and the time to entertain them.

Suppose, for instance, she had planned to give downstairs a thorough cleaning on the day when Aunt Sally and Cousin Lou unexpectedly drove over from the next town. She could forget her contemplated cleaning—nobody but herself expected her to do it—and settle down to a day's "visiting," with a special strawberry shortcake—the berries from her own garden, the whipped cream from her own cow—to make a "company" dinner.

ONE of the fifty-fifty wife's first discoveries, on the other hand, is that she simply cannot do impromptu entertaining unless her job and her nerves are to suffer. If she makes plans in advance, she can show hospitality over the week-end, or take an old friend from home to dinner and the theatre. But when such a friend drifts in, without advance notice, the New York woman with a job and a small apartment on her hands can do little but say "Hail—and farewell!" And the friend goes back home thinking the N. Y. w. inhospitable, cold-hearted, high-hat!

Nothing of the sort—in intention! But if your apartment has no guest room, how can you put any one up overnight? If you have left dinner for self and husband in the electric cooker, when you left home in the morning, you can't turn it into a dinner for three or more, after you return from the office in the evening. If you or your husband or both have evening engagements to play bridge or go to committee meetings, you cannot — without inconveniencing others—either take your old friend along with you, or cancel the engagements at a moment's notice in order to take the friend to dinner and the theatre. Incidentally, you cannot even buy theatre tickets at the last minute, without paying speculators' prices.

As for taking to lunch the unexpected visitor from home, the fifty-fifty wife's luncheon is frequently either a business engagement, or a sandwich and chocolate malted milk, with much needed shopping and marketing to use up the rest of the allotted hour.

Also the friend from out of town never realizes that a woman working for an employer cannot take extra time at lunch to "hear all about everybody," is not expected to meet and talk with personal friends at her office, sometimes is chided even for receiving personal telephone calls.

The woman who never has worked except in her own home cannot comprehend—no matter how hard she may have labored—the clock slavery of most New York business and professional women. When, in addition, they are trying to take care of a husband and a little home, entertaining unexpected arrivals is the last straw. How many of these from the small towns realize that a busy New York woman frequently spends between two and four hours a day traveling in this huge city and its far-flung suburbs, from home to desk?

FINALLY there is the financial tax of hospitality in New York. To "show people a good time"—the sort of time non-New Yorkers expect—is an ever more expensive business. So often the surprise visitors seem to turn up when funds are lowest—the day before payday, or the time when a wage-earner is laid off. Yet you can't admit the truth to some one from the home town.

There is a true and pathetic experience, "Man Out of Work," told by the man's wife in the current Harper's. He was out of work for five months, they had only $800, and for four of the months they had to entertain his Middle Western sister in a four-room apartment—refusing, with characteristic pride, to let her know that her brother, the family success, was unemployed.

"I remember," frankly confesses the hospitable but harassed wife, "my mean feeling of exasperation, as time wore on and our bank balance each day grew slimmer, when I noticed that my dairy bills were $2 higher per week because my sister-in-law consumed unlimited quantities of butter."

The feeling may have been mean, but it has been shared by more than one New York woman, with entertaining suddenly thrust upon her at a moment of acute, if temporary, stringency!

We fifty-fifty wives—and there are so many of us in New York—can and do run a two-ring circus, but the third ring of old-fashioned, spontaneous sociability makes us jump too high. We simply cannot manage it. Not that we don't want to see old friends, to be nice to them—but we want, we implore, advance notice and no sudden postponement, so that we can make our plans and have dollars and hours ready. Sorry, but we cannot do differently, even in the sacred name of hospitality! Life in New York isn't geared to it.

WHAT EVERY WOMAN THINKS

The perfect feminine comment on Carol's return to Roumania is made by Margery Reid, who goes "SMILING UP HER SLEEVE" every week in the Greenwich Press. Miaus Margery:

"We're not by nature vindictive,
"But we would like to see Helen
"Go back to Carol and lead him dog's life.
"It probably could be done."

Oh, Go to Bed

By Eliot Kays Stone

"DAD, why does a camel have a hump?"

"Oh, I don't know. Because it is natural for a camel to have a hump."

"Why is it natural for a camel to have a hump?"

"Because camels are built that way."

"Why are they built that way?"

"Because they are desert animals."

"Do Arabs have bumps?"

"Oh, go to bed."

A Useful Suggestion

Instead of putting tomatoes into boiling water to facilitate peeling hold each one on a fork over the gas flame for a minute—this method will not destroy the flavor as the hot water bath does.

A DISH A DAY

By Karen Hollis

Many of us cherish certain recipes for generations, or because they were had delighted patrons with them for because they have been in our family wrested from some famous chef who many years. Rightfully, perhaps, age seems to us a guarantee that a recipe has proved itself exceptional.

In view of the fact, however, that certain food products are being improved constantly, and that there is greater interest and more widespread study to-day of food and its preparation, there should be some action for new recipes.

To-day I am going to tell you about a kind of pastry that is quite new to me. At least it was until I made it twice last week and persuaded friends to try making it.

Cream cheese is the innovation among its ingredients. We are indebted to Henriette de Bruin, the home economics expert, for introducing this unusual pastry to us. It is particularly good when used for berry pies, so with the recipe for the pastry I will tell you how to make a delicious, and unusual strawberry pie.

Good strawberries are to be had in all our markets just now, but suburbanites are particularly lucky, for in the open-air markets in outlying districts native berries can be purchased on the day they are picked. These baskets, too, are often more generously filled than those in our city markets. While the strawberries are at their best, try serving them this way:

CREAM CHEESE PASTRY

2 cakes cream cheese
½ cup (¼ pound) sweet butter
4 tablespoons sugar
2 cups flour

Soften butter and add the cream cheese. Sift flour once before measuring, then sift again and add to mixture. Add granulated sugar and knead well. Place in ice box overnight, or at least five hours. When ready to use, flour board and rolling pin and roll dough very thin. Bake in very hot oven about twelve minutes.

STRAWBERRY MERINGUE FILLING

1 pie crust, baked
1 quart berries
¾ cup sugar
1 tablespoon corn starch
2 cakes cream cheese
½ cup cream

Fill baked crust with whole berries, reserving one-half cup of them. Make a syrup of the half cup of berries crushed, the sugar, and one and one-half cups of boiling water. Moisten the cornstarch with a little cold water, add to syrup and cook over a hot fire two minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from fire, beat hard and return to low fire to cook until thick. Pour while hot over strawberries in crust. Place in moderate oven for two minutes. Brown cream cheese with fork and cover with cream until light and fluffy. When pie has cooled, use the cheese in place of meringue.

Chrysanthemum Culture

By Karin Broberg

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

CHRYSANTHEMUMS demand a light, rich soil. One of the most successful commercial growers recommends a soil composed of good garden loam and thoroughly rotted cow manure, two parts of the former and one part of the latter. Before using always see that it is thoroughly incorporated with the loam, for the roots must never be permitted to come in direct contact with the manure. If cow manure cannot be secured use bone meal.

Chrysanthemums grown in pots should be placed in a warm, sunny situation. Also aim to keep the soil moist. Plants that have been growing in the open border should be lifted in September and transplanted to large pots. The day before lifting the plants give them a good soaking of water. This is done in order to make the soil cling to the roots. When lifting the plants do not disturb the roots, but cut around the plant, leaving a ball of earth.

Perhaps one of the most important things in the culture of these plants is the matter of food; you cannot overfeed them. Liquid manure should be diluted until it is the color of weak tea. Give this once a week. Also give the plants plenty of water. Another thing to keep in mind is to stake the plant.

Hardy chrysanthemums require about the same general treatment as plants grown in pots. This is especially true in the matter of sun. The sunnier and more open a chrysanthemum plot the more flowers will the plant produce. Should the plants be attacked by lice, spray with black leaf 40. For mildew dust with sulphur.

THINK IT OVER

By Alfalfa Smith

DEEP down in your heart you want that boy of yours to be a success. What is your influence?

Not only your influence over him, but over his father. (I do not say "your husband.")

What is your influence over your other children—the neighbors and those with whom you come in contact?

Why not make things go so that when the day is done and your work is over some one will say: "He is a good boy—he had a good MOTHER."

Rust on Steel and Iron

BEFORE leaving home for an extended period be sure and wrap iron and steel utensils in newspaper or coat them with paraffin or other unsalted fat to prevent rust.

When in use steel and iron should be kept dry and brightly polished, for rust on these two metals acts differently from the tarnish on other metals. It flakes off and exposes another surface to the action of the air and moisture which in turn will rust and flake off, and finally the article becomes rusted out and useless.

Use bath brick or any good scourer and apply with a moistened cork or steel wool. If badly rusted it may be necessary to pour kerosene over the spot and let it stand a few minutes before applying the scourer. Remove all traces of kerosene by washing with hot, soapy water and dry thoroughly.

Good Style and Bad—In Cool Office Breezes

By Ann Roberts

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

BAD STYLE FOR THE OFFICE FLUFFY CHIFFON AND BIG HAT.

ACCESSORIES THAT ARE IN BAD TASTE.

SILK COAT AND PRINTED FROCK IN GOOD TASTE.

ACCESSORIES IN THE BEST OF TASTE.

TO DRESS smartly—in thoroughly good taste—to keep fresh and spotless in an office—all on nothing a year. Oh, yes. That's easy!

I know how you feel—lucky to have your back covered, let alone any graces and charms. But you know a girl gets a big kick out of thinking about clothes. It's a merry little side activity that helps the business girl over dull hours and long stretches in the subway. If the results are good, there's more of a kick in store for her, but if they are bad, according to any of the standards of good taste, then she goes round with a haunted feeling wondering why everything seems so dull and lifeless.

Clothes satisfaction is one of the biggest assets a girl can have. If she feels right she acts with assurance, and what more than clothes can make her feel right?

I don't want you to look efficient and competent and all that sort of bunk, but I do suggest that a girl in an office can look interesting always. And I do hint that it is often the case that some of them look distinctly dowdy.

Now, the fine line of difference between good and bad is often difficult to distinguish unless you are born keen eyed and minded on the subject of clothes. Follow some rules then and you aren't so very apt to go wrong:

Fluffy, flowered chiffons? No!

Unruffled, flowered chiffons? Yes!

Sleeveless dresses? No!

Three-quarter or long-sleeved dresses? Yes!

You see, there are printed chiffons and printed chiffons. Those with light backgrounds and loud designs are simply out as far as an office is concerned. And flounces galore, while pretty enough at an afternoon tea, have no place at all behind the golden oak desk. I know they are comfortable and cheap and tempting but they are bad.

Simply Perfect Costume

A QUITE simple chiffon in black and blue print—long sleeved—looked awfully well on a business personage. On leaving for lunch she donned a dark blue silk coat with a cape, a dark blue panama hat with drooping brim and a dark blue velvet bow across the back. She, I should say, was perfectly dressed for a summer day in the office—or anywhere else for that matter. It was just awfully good, quiet taste.

Suits are always wonderful dressing for an office and there is nothing like that extra blouse or two extra blouses, or three, to give you a feeling of crispness and cleanliness than which there is no better feeling for the everyday worker. If you even approach the tailored type don't miss a chance to wear a tailored suit to the office, for it is the best of dressing right now.

For summer the silk suits are perhaps best, but there are those made of the light weight woolen materials, their coats without linings, that are almost as cool, and hold to their shape and pressing much more efficiently.

Be careful of the printed crepe dresses. I know they are cool but they can so easily be wrong unless made expensively and simply. The caped ones are meant for other and more social occasions and the sleeveless ones also. But if the flat crepe is plainly done—a well cut circular skirt, simply detailed neckline, &c., you will find it a most satisfactory office dress. It cleans beautifully and keeps its shape happily.

Brown, if you get tired of blacks and blues, is an excellent color, and travels nicely to the country of a Sunday.

Some Don'ts

DON'T wear hats that are too big, unless you are the boss and it is a hot day. Then, of course, you can do as you please.

Don't wear shoes that are too high heeled and teeter in and out of the office like something on stilts. Cuban heeled ties are very smart right now. Get a pair and cling to them. They're fine for office wear and you can take them to the country for week-ends.

Don't wear giddy gloves. Keep the chamois or fabric for suits and kid or suede for anything else. It is cheering to the business girl to know that dark gloves—black, brown and dark gray—are coming in for fall; no, so much washing and cleaning to be contemplated in that direction.

Don't wear earrings to the office—especially the drippy kind. They might be becoming but they're never good taste in this connection.

Keep your diamonds for evening wear and completely omit heavy ornate necklaces. Keep your beads a simple string around the throat and wear only one ring at a time, if you must have rings. It is better form to keep one hand entirely free from jewelry of any sort. A rich and elegant appearance is never attained by sprinkling on diamonds.

PRINTED SILK SUIT SMART FOR OFFICE WEAR.

Slender-Seeming Legs

WHEN dresses are short by fashion's decree, the stout woman's problem increases. The short dress cuts off height and fails to cover the legs, sometimes too large for symmetry and beauty.

The unbroken color line from head to toe is advisable, but the hose and shoes at least should match in color or the hose match the dress.

Dark stockings, which give a sheer black effect, are a wise choice for wear with black shoes. Gray hose make the legs appear more slender than those of beige and other yellow tones. Suntan should be dark, toward the grays rather than the yellows. Novelties in golf-patterned hose? Never.

High heels are shunned by the full-figured woman who desires footwear suggesting sufficient support. Instead of a fancy, decorated shoe, she chooses a good plain design with skilled workmanship, a shoe which fits the foot, the costume, and the occasion. Plain, inconspicuous shoes are appropriate always—huge, glittering buckles, never!

Shoes of black, dull leather are best, worn with stockings not too light in tone. And a T-strap narrows the appearance of the large foot more than the high-cut oxford type of shoe.

Tight skirts increase the apparent size of the feet. But decoration at the bottom of the skirt serves to draw attention away from large feet.

A Novel Fly Catcher

ONE housewife who was much annoyed with flies and did not like fly papers hit upon a novel plan which was effectual in driving the pests away.

After meals she put warm water in a saucer and added a few drops of formaldehyde, then set it on the table. She made a little narrow ladder of white blotting paper for the convenience of the flies. She claims this attracted them and helped materially and in an hour she brushed the victims from the table.

A REVIEW OF THE AIR

LAST night on the radio. A review of the best features scooped from the ether:

Last night was a period of delight and ecstasy for the radio fans. Static was very few and far between and most of the programs came in clear. One of the charming numbers picked up by this critic was the Ideal Ashcan Company's string quartet. This orchestral outfit was never in better form. After rendering the brakebeam chorus from the opera, "The Hobo of Hoboken," it gave imitations of a locomotive starting, by request.

From Station WHIZ Dr. Hooley of the Polyphysic Hospital staff gave an intriguing lecture on "Eight Forms of Peritonitis." The engaging personality of the doctor lent a new warmth to this famous malady. After his sympathetic description, no radio listener can help but have a greater respect for peritonitis in all its forms. Every one of the symptoms came in clear.

Uncle Tiddley was in rare form from Station WBAM. His bedtime story of "Little Hubert and the Wall Street Bears" was a treat for the kiddies as well as the grown-up non-investors. Uncle Tiddley topped off his twilight program by announcing the winners in last week's limerick contest of the Consolidated Rear Axle and Sprocket Company.

One of the best features on last night's air was a lecture by Mose Gumbo, the popular and intrepid explorer, on "Snowshoeing in Central America," from Station WFAU. It actually made the auditor's mouth water to follow Mr. Gumbo on his snowshoes from oasis to oasis and back again. Many new facts were brought out about Central America as well as many old ones. His description of confetti harvesting in Guatemala will not be forgotten for some time to come and then some. It was announced that next week's travelog by Mr. Gumbo would be omitted, by request.

The weather report from Station WTUT was that the weather would be unsettled for thirty days net.

Abe Muckenstein's Society Orchestra put on a snappy program from the roof of the Zissle House at West Oilcloth, Mich. This broadcast was through Station WNG. The orchestra was especially pleasing in its program of folk songs of Jersey City and suburbs.

From Station WUNK the murder reports from Cicero, Ill., came in clear as a bell.

The annual banquet of the National Association of Dustpan Manufacturers was relayed from Spooking's Cafe by WPKL. The soup at the head table came in very clear. Vice President Stitts of the association pointed out that the increase of dandruff in America this season should make the dustpan business very good. The closing number on the program was the "Anvil Chorus" by the waiters, who were dissatisfied with their tips. The next-to-closing song of the banquet, "They Were Only Playing Leapfrog," sounded rather thick.

Station KLSH put on a novelty last night that was a splendid treat to the jaded radio audience. It consisted of tightrope walking, accompanied by Japanese parasols. The entertainment was performed on a direct wire stretched across the studio. Double somersaults in the air were amplified to triple and quadruple somersaults on the more expensive receiving sets.

From Station WIWW the Zowie Refrigerator Company's Red Hot Quartet broadcast a pleasing program. Later in the evening from the same studio Prof. J. T. Jillicks gave an inspiring [illegible] Plan to Catch Mock Turtles for Soup [illegible] appropriate costuming and studio. The talk was interrupted [illegible].

Another welcome feature of last night's [illegible] WFOB'S silence.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping." Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

SHOW of SHOWS
by WILLARD KEEFE

Copyright 1929, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"Show of Shows," the Warner Bros. Vitaphone picture was the source for the material on which these stories are based.

SYNOPSIS

Through Queenie Quinn, Hollywood script girl, Leo Hanlon lands an extra role in "Show of Shows," the musical revue film. Appearing in numbers with John Barrymore and Monte Blue, Leo leads a fascinating life at the studio. Queenie, who takes more than a business interest in him, advises that Leo learn the "inside" of production. Hanlon takes part in scenes starring Lupino Lane and Georges Carpentier, and plays in the grand finale, which is shot with the picture only half completed.

INSTALLMENT TEN

Pleased with Carpentier's contributions to the revue, Leo determined on a visit to his compatriot, Irene Bordoni. This comedienne, despite a charming accent which led one to believe that she had only just quitted her adored Paris, had long been an American stage favorite. Not only in New York, either, for La Bordoni was a willing trouper and had as firm a following in Des Moines and Joplin as that which thronged to her Broadway plays.

Miss Bordoni had selected for her number "Just An Hour of Love" and had also selected Eddie Ward, its composer, for her accompanist. So, while the young tunesmith yielded her competent keyboard service, the comedienne blended her accent into the following wish:

"Just an hour of love
"When you will hear me call
"And bring me all
"Your love,
"To crush me for an hour
"Like a tender flower
"While shadows fall from above.
"Ummm—after the stars are gone
"To feel each memory still thrilling me anon;
"To know the joy of living,
"Taking joy and giving,
"Give me just an hour of love with you."

The song seemed to have been designed exactly for her talents. Like most of this French lady's songs, it was not only sung, but actually performed—built into an uncommonly moving scene. But there was more. After the first verse and refrain had been sung, the back drop parted revealing a terraced platform over which were scattered nine pianos. And at each piano was a popular composer, many of them represented by song numbers in "Show of Shows."

"What do they mean—accompanied by Eddie Ward?" demanded the irrepressible Sid Silvers, who materialized from somewhere. "Accompanied by the populace of Tin Pan Alley would be nearer the truth."

"It's a stout number, don't you think?" offered Leo.

Silvers regarded him in amusement. "If it isn't the Barrymore menace. Where are the metal pajamas you used to wear?"

"The war is over," returned Leo. "I eased up on Barrymore, as you suggested," he added grinning.

"Good plan," admitted Silvers. "You wouldn't break up Miss Bordoni's act, would you?"

"Who, me?" exclaimed Leo. "No sir. Too clever, these French."

As it gradually dawned on Leo that he was unlikely to find further employment in "Show of Shows," he began to concern himself with the problem of getting a job at some other studio. He hesitated to do so, however, for he was convinced that additional research on the Warner lot would advantage him as much as a paying job, but not, unfortunately, in immediate cash. He elected to let Queenie decide.

"Well, how long," demanded that practical lady, "will you be able to eat?"

"Oh, perhaps a fortnight."

"Not bad. Chances are, too, you probably couldn't hustle a bit in that time anyway."

"Then what do you suggest?"

Queenie paused reflectively. She was, she knew, growing increasingly fond of this eager extra and she hoped that circumstances would arrange themselves to keep him on the Warner lot. But she also was aware of the discouraging interlude between jobs. She finally advised him to list himself with a casting agency, but meantime to continue to haunt the "Show of Shows" set that he might pleasantly leaven education with entertainment.

(To be continued.)

OUTSIDE LABOR SCORED BY EL CERRITO

The council of El Cerrito at its meeting Monday night on a motion of Councilman Peter Larsen passed a resolution instructing the heads of departments not to hire outside labor unless they consulted the commissioner of the department first.

Councilman Hans M. Nissen who brought the matter before the council said that reports had come to him that non-residents and non-taxpayers were being employed by the city, and that the city should give the local residents preference.

The motion was carried by a unanimous vote of the council.

Applications of Tony Gatto, 17 San Pablo avenue, Oscar Anderson, 11 San Pablo avenue and Slim's Auto Wrecking, 11411 San Pablo avenue for soft drink permits were referred to Acting Chief of Police Howard Thulin for one week.

Soft drink permits were granted to the El Cerrito Camp and the Peekaboo Auto Camp. The application of H. C. Spencer, 139 San Pablo avenue, for a soft drink permit was referred to acting chief of police for another week.

On the recommendation of Fire Commissioner Hans M. Nissen the council ordered that the fire alarm boxes and poles be repainted.

Action on the pay for volunteer firemen was laid over till next Monday when the council will meet at 7:30 p. m. to decide on the rate of pay and the number firemen who will be paid on each alarm.

According to the opinion of the council there should be a difference in pay between a real alarm and a false alarm, that the number of drills per month should be limited and that the number of firemen to be paid at each alarm should be set.

The recommendation of Fire Commissioner Hans M. Nissen was that the firemen receive $2.50 for each alarm and $1.00 for each drill.

Mayor J. R. Beck and Councilman Hans M. Nissen will attend the meeting of the Salt Water Barrier association to be held in Richmond at the Hotel Carquinez on Wednesday evening June 25.

An invitation from Secretary L. E. Mullen of that organization requesting the attendance of all of the council was read by City Clerk Mrs. Alice Walker.

Application of R. E. Tilden, registered engineer, for position of city engineer was placed on file.

Notice of a meeting of city attorneys in northern California to be held in the Oakland city hall June 27 to form an organization to combat rate raises of public utilities before the Railroad Commission was referred to City Attorney T. H. DeLap.

Hays Sued For Millions In Ingagi Mixup

LOS ANGELES, June 23.—UP—Recent charges regarding the authenticity of the African film, "Ingagi," resulted today in the filing of a $3,365,000 damage suit by Congon Pictures, Ltd., producers of the gorilla picture.

Charging that a concerted attempt had been made to ruin the production, the complaint named as defendants the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors and certain of its officers, including Will Hays, and Carl Milliken, and the National Better Business Bureau and others.

In claiming $365,000 for asserted damage in cancelled bookings and $3,000,000 exemplary damages, the plaintiffs contended that the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors organization had, in effect, banned the picture "by agreement." The association publicly has denied this charge.

It was also charged that the National Better Business Bureau, Inc. issued statements denouncing the film as a fake.

The complaint held that "Ingagi" is an authentic record of African adventure because no more than 15 percent of the picture was studio-made.

Nat H. Spitzer, president of Congo Pictures, issued a statement today attacking Hays and other defendants and representing the suit as a common cause for independent producers who suffered from what he called "trust methods" employed by larger producers.

Is Mother Now

MRS. CHARLES LINDBERGH is the mother of a son born at the Morrow home Sunday. The child, it is understood, will be named Charles.

LINDBERGH SON TO BE NAMED CHARLES

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., June 23.—UP—Congratulations from all over the world were being poured in at the Morrow home to Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, parents of a son born to Mrs. Lindbergh here Sunday.

While the couple appeared to be undecided, it was understood that the child would be named Charles.

Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh gave birth to the child at 3:15 p. m. yesterday—her 24th birthday—in the Morrow home here, a white house on a hill where she herself was born. One wing of the mansion had been converted into a hospital where the nurse and two specialists who attended Mrs. Lindbergh found every facility available.

Resting Easy

Today Mrs. Lindbergh and the child were reported to be doing nicely.

Seldom has the birth of a child been surrounded by such secrecy. Reporters who waited at the gate of the Morrow home were unaware of the arrival of the boy until more than two hours after the event. Inside the home, however, the news was being broadcast. A "friend of the family" called the United Press and gave the news, refusing, however, to supply anything except the fact that the child was a boy, that it had been born at 3:15 p. m. and that it weighed something more than seven pounds.

Morrow Jubilant

Dwight W. Morrow, Mrs. Lindbergh's father, who went through his successful campaign for the Republican nomination for senator from New Jersey without once losing his calm and judicious bearing, was reported to be jubilant and excited over the birth of his first grandchild.

Lindbergh, however, apparently retained his customary calmness, and found time in the midst of the excitement to send a telegram to the New York office of the United Press, congratulating Col. Roberto Fierro, Mexican aviator, on his non-stop flight from New York to Mexico City.

Morrow Mum

Morrow declined to comment on the birth of the child other than to say that "I am the happiest grandfather in the world." He declared he would make a statement today, at which time it was expected the official weight of the child at birth and its name would be revealed.

All through the night and into this morning messenger boys were bearing telegrams of congratulation to the Morrow home. The messages began arriving soon after news of the baby's birth became known.

Lindbergh refused to comment.

While it has been generally known for some time that Mrs. Lindbergh was an expectant mother, the date of the birth could not be predicted because of the secrecy with which the event has been surrounded. It was understood that the Lindberghs at first engaged a room in a New York hospital and then cancelled it when they decided to go to the Morrow home.

Boy Scout Lost In Hills Sought By Posse, planes

RIVERSIDE, June 23.—UP—Forming 50-yard links in a human chain, more than 100 men worked carefully up the slopes of the San Jacinto range today, in a search for Harold Johnson, 12-year old son of the Corona postmaster, missing since last Thursday.

At a late hour, no trace had been found of the Boy Scout, lost during a sunrise hiking trip with a party of youthful companions. The boy became separated from the other Scouts when he went to look for a lost hat.

Another wing of the extensive search worked up the hills from Round valley on the west side of the range. From Banning, 20 pack horses were trucked into Idyllwild, a summer resort near the trail taken by the hiking party Thursday.

Fear for the boy's safety increased when rangers of Tahquitz peak, goal of the hikers, reported that there are no cabins in that vicinity where he might have found shelter and food.

The youth carried only a light blanket and his Scout kit.

Rumors that an army aviator had sighted the boy's body were discredited at March field, Army airport here. It was said that the height of peaks in the vicinity made the search by air comparatively valueless.

CITY ADOPTS FIRE ZONE LAW

designated as commercial zones under the city zoning ordinance.

The No. 1 zone along Macdonald avenue extends back only the depth of the lots facing on the avenue.

Fire Zone No. 3, under the new ordinance, includes all industrial zones, and covers industrial construction.

No. 4 Zone includes all residential zones. There is little change in the residential building requirements. The principal new provision is one requiring that walls built less than three feet from the property line must be of one-hour fire resisting construction, such as stucco or masonry. The same provision is contained in the new building code.

Other Ordinances

Lots in the rear of the El Carquinez apartments on Barrett avenue were rezoned from residential to commercial. A miniature golf course is to be erected on the property.

L. A. Blimp At San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—UP—San Francisco's civic center was "bombed" from the air today, but the "bombs" were messages of greeting hurled over the side of the Goodyear baby blimp which arrived here from Los Angeles, Fresno, Stockton and way points. The blimp was berthed in Golden Gate park stadium by a ground crew of 10 men. It will make a series of flights from Mills Field with guest passengers.

The blimp passed over Richmond at an early hour yesterday morning.

MOODYS BACK

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Moody have left for Blairsden in Plumas county where they will spend two week's vacation. Moody is a local Santa Fe electrician.

First reading of an ordinance regulating the installation of gas appliances in the city, was given and laid over for one week.

Sewer Ordered

No protests were received on the installation of the sanitary sewers in the industrial district at the foot of Tenth street. A resolution ordering the work was adopted. Bids will be received in two weeks.

Local Residence Reported Robbed

According to a report made to police yesterday, clothing and hardware valued at $50 were stolen from the home of Clyde James, 1717 Shasta street during the past week.

James reported that when he returned to his home after an absence of a week, several articles were missing.

Central Committee Nominations Filed

MARTINEZ, June 23.—Nomination for members of the Republican county central committee for the first district, which includes Richmond, have been filed as follows:

Defense Will Move In Attic Lover Trial

LOS ANGELES, June 23.—UP—A final move to place the blame for the murder of Fred Oesterreich, retired Milwaukee manufacturer, on an asserted "basement lover" of the slain man's widow, is expected to be made tomorrow by defense counsel for Otto Sanhuber, "attic lover" accused of the crime.

Defense Attorney Earl Wakeman said today as the state rested its case, he would call witnesses who have sworn to affidavits that they heard Roy Klumb, former acquaintance of Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich admit the killing.

Klumb has filed a slander suit against Wakeman who, in his opening statement to the jury described Klumb as the "basement lover."

Wakeman declared he will call Sanhuber as a witness tomorrow to testify that he never left his attic abode in the Oesterreich residence on the night the manufacturer was shot down there.

Taken by surprise when the state rested, Wakeman obtained a continuance of the trial until tomorrow morning on the contention that he had expected the prosecution to call six more witnesses.

TRIED AND TRUE!

When tempted to over-indulge

"REACH FOR A LUCKY INSTEAD"

Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Avoid that future shadow* by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain that modern, ever-youthful figure. "Reach for a Lucky instead."

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Lucky Strike has an extra, secret heating process. Everyone knows that heat purifies and so 20,679 physicians say that Luckies are less irritating to your throat.

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough

*"I have come to the conclusion," writes Sir Henry Thompson, M.D., F.R.S., "that more than half the disease that embitters human life is due to avoidable errors in diet." We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky instead," you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight, and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.
